May 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 2 May forecast is far above shipment and forecast history, so the plan appears to assume a major uplift versus normal demand.
- 1 GUCCI women’s EDT at $70 in 30 ML is a mainstream department-store price point, which can support gift and replenishment demand but also limits volume compared with lower-priced minis.
- 0 Zendaya is the named personality, but no current sentiment or campaign evidence was provided; this is a possible upside factor, not a confirmed driver.
- 1 Ozonic, clear fragrance profiles are generally more neutral and warm-weather friendly, which can help in late spring, but the effect is indirect.

Recommendations

- 2 Keep the May lift but avoid overcommitting; the gap to history is large and likely needs promotional or distribution support to clear.
- 2 Check whether any Friends & Family mailing or regional feature applies to this SKU in May, since that could justify the step-up in department-store demand.
- 1 Monitor Zendaya-related brand activity and social sentiment before finalizing the month; any media spike could support the elevated forecast.
- 1 If inventory is tight, prioritize sellable units over samples/testers in planning because this item’s May demand likely depends on counter conversion more than tester replenishment.

Jun 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 1 June is outside the main gift spikes; this Gucci women’s EDT relies more on baseline replenishment and promo support than holiday demand.

- 1 ZENDAYA association may help if current celebrity sentiment is favorable, but this is a blind spot in the workbook and no verified June 2026 catalyst is provided.
- 0 30 mL at $70 is a moderate-price prestige size, which can move with department-store traffic but is more sensitive to promotional visibility than larger giftable sizes.
- 0 Ozonic/clear fragrance positioning is generally broad-appeal, but without current trend evidence the demand effect is uncertain.

Recommendations

- 1 Keep the June forecast close to the model and prior shipment run-rate; avoid adding extra uplift without a confirmed event or promo.
- 1 If the item is included in Friends & Family flyers in the month, apply only a modest positive adjustment unless region-specific sell-through data shows stronger response.
- 0 Monitor Zendaya-related media or fashion momentum before late-month reforecasting; adjust only if there is clear, item-relevant buzz.

Jul 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 1 July is outside the item's named event calendar (Mother's Day, Valentine's Day, Christmas), so this EDT has no obvious holiday lift in a US department-store month.
- 2 Forecast units (47) are far below shipment history (324) and below forecast history (95), suggesting a deliberately conservative July assumption or reduced baseline demand.
- 1 GUCCI women's fragrance at a $70 retail point may still benefit from brand pull, but the 30 mL EDT size is more entry-level and likely less promo-sensitive than larger EDP bottles.
- 0 Zendaya is listed as the personality driver, but no verified current sentiment or event data was provided; without a timely catalyst, upside from celebrity association is uncertain.
- 1 Ozonic/clear scent profile can perform as a fresh summer style, which is directionally supportive for July, though this is a modest and indirect demand signal.

Recommendations

- 1 Keep July close to the conservative forecast unless there is regional flyer support or a known Gucci/Zendaya campaign that would justify an uplift.
- 1 Watch sell-through in department stores for summer freshness cues; if ozonic women's fragrance outperforms, this item could merit a small late-summer increase.
- 1 Do not auto-apply holiday-style seasonality to July for this SKU; the current forecast already appears to reflect a soft midyear baseline.

Aug 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 1 August is outside the major gift holidays; this basic Gucci women's EDT should rely more on steady luxury replenishment than event-driven spikes.
- 1 The 30 ml / $70 size is a more accessible entry point than larger Gucci scents, which can support department-store conversion but usually limits unit velocity versus giftable larger formats.
- 1 Gucci's current women's fragrance assortment continues to emphasize modern, airy profiles and ozonic accords; that aligns with this item's ozonic scent cue and may help it fit summer demand.
- 0 No strong, verifiable current Zendaya-specific or Gucci-XXX fragrance campaign signal was found in the available sources, so personality-led lift is uncertain.
- 0 The item is in the women's basic EDT tier, which typically depends on counter support and flyer placement more than fashion or niche scent trends.

Recommendations

- 1 Keep the August forecast close to the prorated baseline, with only a modest summer uplift for the ozonic profile.
- 1 If this SKU is included in Friends & Family regional flyers, allow a small incremental lift versus non-featured Gucci basics.
- 1 Do not layer in a celebrity-driven uplift unless there is confirmed Zendaya activation in the month.
- 1 Monitor sell-through against similar Gucci women's EDT entry sizes; if the 30 ml is acting as a trial SKU, preserve availability but avoid overforecasting.

Sep 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 0 GUCCI women's EDT at $70 is a core department-store prestige item; September is usually a steady back-to-work month, but this is not a major fragrance gifting period.
- 1 OZONIC/CLEAR scent profile is fresh and versatile, which can support everyday wear demand, but it is not a strong seasonal or event-driven driver for September.
- 1 Zendaya association could help brand visibility, but no specific current activity was provided; without confirmed news, treat this as neutral to slightly positive only.
- 1 Forecast units (183) are well below shipment history (382) and slightly below forecast history (196), suggesting a conservative month versus past shipment demand.

Recommendations

- 0 Keep the September plan close to the current forecast; avoid lifting sharply unless there is confirmed regional flyer support or retailer feature activity.
- 1 Monitor sell-through on the 30 ML size and replenish cautiously, since the forecast already sits below shipment history and may reflect softer baseline demand.
- 1 If fragrance counter events or regional Friends & Family support are scheduled in this month, use only a modest upside adjustment because September demand impact is usually limited.

Oct 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 1 October is not a major calendar lift for this Gucci women's EDT, so the forecast sits below both shipment and prior forecast history without an obvious holiday driver.
- 1 30 ML at a $70 retail price is a relatively giftable but still premium size; in department stores, that can limit volume if there is no flyer or event support.
- 0 OZONIC scent profile is more neutral/fresh than warm seasonal profiles, so it may not get a strong fall bump compared with heavier fragrances.
- 0 Zendaya is attached to the item as a personality signal, but no specific current news or campaign evidence is provided here, so the demand effect should be treated as uncertain.

Recommendations

- 1 Keep October forecast conservatively below history unless there is confirmed regional flyer support or a Gucci event in the selling stores.
- 1 Watch sell-through on comparable Gucci women's EDTs; if ozonic/fresh scents soften in fall, shift replenishment toward more gift-oriented months.
- 1 Use the item's premium but compact 30 ML positioning for counter support and add-on selling rather than expecting a large seasonal spike.

Nov 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 2 Holiday gifting builds in November; Gucci women's EDT at $70 sits in a prestige giftable tier, which should support department-store demand ahead of Black Friday and early holiday traffic.
- 1 The item's Zendaya linkage is a positive demand lever because she has been active in 2026 press coverage, which can keep her visibility and relevance elevated; however, no fragrance-specific campaign was confirmed.
- 1 Current 2026 fragrance coverage favors calmer, wearable profiles and "quiet luxury" styles; this ozonic, clear scent fits that broad direction, but the trend signal is indirect and not item-specific.

- 0 November can be a mixed month for basic EDTs versus heavier holiday scents; this SKU's 30 mL size is more giftable than a larger bottle, but the forecast is still below the item's forecast-history level.

Recommendations

- 1 Keep the November forecast modestly above a normal baseline for holiday gifting, but avoid an aggressive upside because shipment history is zero and there is no confirmed promo or event-specific activation.
- 1 Prioritize regional friends-and-family flyer support and in-store counter visibility, since this item is in a department-store channel and the user notes EDP/EDT flyers can drive sell-through.
- 0 Monitor any Zendaya or Gucci fashion publicity in late October/November for short-term lift, but treat it as an upside optionality rather than core volume.

Dec 2026

X002A03

Considerations

- 2 December is a peak holiday gifting month for US retail, which should lift women's designer fragrance demand at department stores.
- 1 GUCCI remains active in fragrance storytelling, and the brand's women's lines currently emphasize modern, sensual, ozonic style cues that fit this item's scent profile.
- 0 Zendaya-specific demand support is unconfirmed in current sources; without a fresh campaign or news tie-in, personality-driven upside should be kept conservative.
- 1 At $70 for a 30 ml EDT, this is an accessible luxury gift format, but the smaller size limits basket value versus EDP holiday sets.

Recommendations

- 2 Hold a modest December uplift above history for holiday gifting, but avoid overextending beyond the observed seasonal lift.
- 1 Bias inventory toward giftable counter-ready presentation and replenishment for department store promotions rather than large unit bets.
- 1 If flyer support is available in select regions, prioritize those doors for incremental stock because holiday fragrance traffic is most promotion-sensitive.
- 0 Do not add extra personality-driven upside unless Zendaya or Gucci launches a confirmed campaign closer to the month.

Jan 2027

X002A03

Considerations

-1 January is typically post-holiday, so demand may normalize after December gifting; the forecast is only slightly above shipment history (+4) and below forecast history (-25), suggesting a conservative reset is already baked in.

0 Gucci women's EDT at a $70 retail point should retain baseline department-store demand, but this is a BASIC, 30 ML ozonic scent, which usually has less event-driven lift than stronger gifting SKUs.

0 Zendaya tie-in is a potential brand halo, but no specific current sentiment or campaign evidence was provided, so any demand lift is uncertain and should be treated cautiously.

-1 The item is an EDT rather than an EDP, and your noted Friends & Family flyers focus on EDP items, so this SKU may not benefit from that regional promotion support.

Recommendations

1 Keep the January forecast near the current 220 units unless there is a confirmed Gucci/Zendaya campaign or retailer feature that would justify upside.

1 Monitor sell-through vs. shipment history in the first half of January; if post-holiday demand softens more than expected, reduce replenishment risk on the next cycle.

-1 Do not assume flyer-driven lift for this SKU without proof of inclusion, since the promotion note appears to favor EDPs rather than EDTs.

Feb 2027

X002A03

Considerations

- 2 Valentine's Day timing can lift women's fragrance demand in February, and this EDT sits in a giftable $70 Gucci position.
- 1 ZENDAYA association may support sell-through if current celebrity sentiment remains favorable, but this was not validated here and is a blind spot in the model.
- 1 30 ML size is convenient for gifting and trial, but it usually caps unit upside versus larger EDP formats.
- 0 Ozonic/clear profile is relatively broad and wearable, which can help in department-store gifting windows but is less event-specific than sweeter florals.

Recommendations

- 2 Keep February above straight LY pro-rata to reflect Valentine's gifting demand, but avoid an aggressive spike without promo support.
- 1 If any Friends & Family activity reaches this item or region, layer a modest incremental uplift for department-store units.
- 1 Monitor Zendaya-related visibility and Gucci fashion/fragrance coverage for late-winter demand momentum; adjust only if sentiment is clearly positive.

Mar 2027

X002A03

Considerations

- 1 Gucci has recent runway/creative momentum, which can support brand demand in department stores even if the broader luxury environment is mixed.
- 1 Zendaya remains highly visible in fashion/media coverage; that visibility can lift conversion for a women's designer fragrance tied to her name.
- 1 The scent profile is ozonic/clean, which aligns with current spring-friendly, fresh-fragrance interest and should fit March selling.
- 1 Forecast units are well above shipment history but far above the limited forecast-history baseline, so the March plan appears aggressive versus prior modeled demand.

Recommendations

- 1 Keep the March forecast modestly above history, but avoid layering on extra upside unless sell-through or promo support is confirmed.
- 1 Prioritize store-level replenishment for department-store doors likely included in friends-and-family flyer activity, since event-driven support can raise short-term turns.
- 0 Monitor Zendaya/Gucci news and any spring fashion/editorial placements; if coverage weakens, this item could underperform the current lift assumption.

Apr 2027

X002A03

Considerations

- 1 GUCCI has active 2026 campaign visibility and a spring fashion push, which can support brand heat in department stores even if this specific EDT is not named in the current campaign materials.
- 1 Zendaya remains a strong luxury-fragrance personality association for this item, but no current official Gucci source here confirms a fresh 2027 beauty campaign tied to her, so lift is possible but not certain.
- 1 The item is a 30 ml women's EDT at a $70 price point, which is giftable but smaller-ticket than EDPs; April demand typically softens after Valentine's/Mother's Day build, limiting urgency.
- 1 The scent is ozonic/clean, which generally fits spring merchandising and lighter-weather shopping; that should be a modest April tailwind versus heavier winter profiles.
- 1 User notes say EDPs are featured in friends-and-family flyers, but this item is an EDT, so it likely gets less promo support and lower regional flyer-driven uplift.

Recommendations

- 1 Keep the April forecast near the current 220 units; use only a mild spring/brand uplift rather than a large event-driven spike.
- 1 Do not assume Zendaya or Gucci fashion news will translate directly into this SKU without item-specific campaign evidence; avoid over-forecasting on personality halo alone.
- 0 If inventory is tight, prioritize sell-through support in gift-oriented doors, but do not add EDP-level promotional volume to this EDT.

May 2027

X002A03

Considerations

- 1 Zendaya remains a visible fashion/entertainment figure in 2026, so her name can still support the Gucci women's EDT, but current coverage is not directly fragrance-specific.
- 1 Gucci's women's fragrance assortment still includes EDT and smaller formats, which supports replenishment for a $70 30 ml item in department stores.
- 1 May is not one of the biggest fragrance gift peaks versus Mother's Day or Christmas, so demand for this sellable unit is likely more normalized after spring gifting.
- 1 Current 2026 fragrance commentary points to experimentation and trend-led discovery, which may favor newer or louder launches more than a basic ozonic classic.

Recommendations

- 1 Hold a modest seasonal uplift vs. shipment history, but avoid aggressive growth assumptions for May.

- 1 Lean on department-store friends-and-family activity and regional flyer support for volume rather than expecting personality-driven lift alone.
- 0 Monitor Gucci/Zendaya media coverage into spring; if no fresh campaign appears, keep the forecast conservative because the personality signal is indirect.
- 1 If inventory is tight, prioritize core replenishment over speculative upside because this size/price point looks like a steady seller rather than a promo spike item.
